"Brielse oliebolle" popular in Havlíčkův Brod

On May 8, Czech Republic celebrates its liberation with a large craft market, the greatest of the Czech Republic. One of the participants in recent years is a Brielse delegation led by Peter Kroone who bakes a treat for the residents of Havlíčkův Brod, as a thank you for the beautiful Christmas tree, a gift from Havlíčkův Brod, that stood around Christmas at the Market in Brielle.

The bakers Peter Kroone and Kees Beije were assisted by representatives of the City of Brielle, the 1 April association and the HBBC. Of course there could be "gesjoeld", with the assistance of some Czech friends, who could better explain the rules than the Dutch speaking visitors. During the working lunch of alderman Wilbert Borgonjen, councilor Peter Kroone HBBC and some representatives of the Municipality of Havlíčkův Brod, the latest news was exchanged.

Thus, conducting national regulations in Brielle are already difficult, but in Havlíčkův Brod is still more difficult, partly because officials in Brod are under national responsibility. Mayor Jan Tecl has indicated that he likes to come to Brielle at least next year during the April 1 celebration.

He was surprised that there were no Brielse regional products available on the market in Havlickuv Brod.

A good idea for next year!

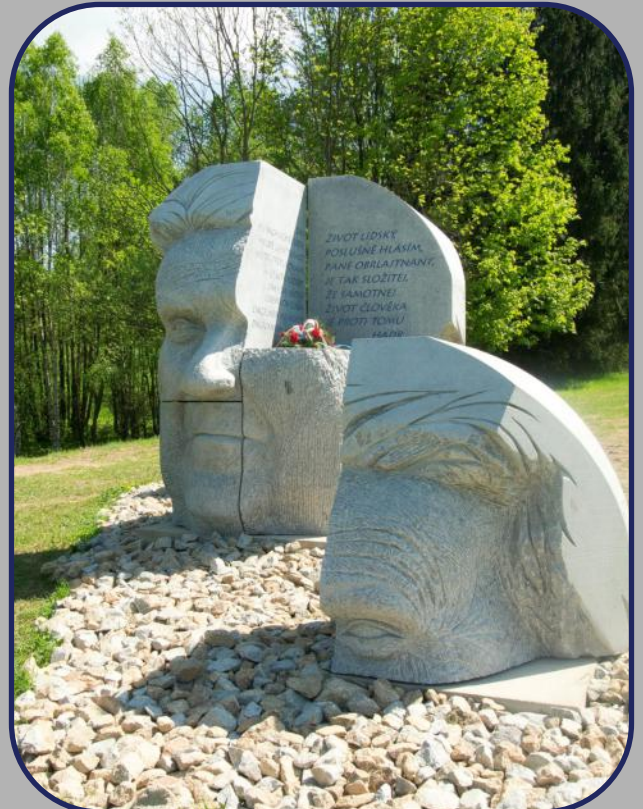

Unveiling artwork of Radomir Dvořák

Radomír Dvořák en Schweik

Radomír Dvořák was born in 1959. He lives and works in Havlickuv Brod in Czech-Moravian highlands. His art training, he followed at the Pedagogical University in Hradec Kralove from 1978 to 1983, where he was impressed by the academic painter Borivoj Borovsky.

Lipnice nad Sazavou, East Bohemia, April 27 (CTK) - An unusual 18-tonne granite portrait of Czech writer Jaroslav Hasek, author of the famous Good Soldier Svejk, was unveiled at the junction of the roads from Lipnice to Dolni Mesto and Svetla nad Sazavou today. The so-called genetically adjusted portrait of Hasek was made by Radomir Dvorak. It is more than two and a half metres high and it bears quotations from The Good Soldier Svejk (1923) in ten languages. The portrait is called Hlava XXII, which literally means Head 22, but it is also the Czech title of the translation of Joseph Heller's satirical war fiction novel Catch-22. Literary critics had allegedly pointed to the similarities between the hero of Catch-22 (1961), Captain John Yossarian and Svejk. In his Closing Time (1994), a sequel to Catch-22, Heller included a conversation between Yossarian and Svejk. Hasek (1883-1923) spent the last part of his life in the small town of Lipnice nad Sazavou. He wrote three of the four volumes of Svejk's adventures during the World War One in a local pub, U Ceske koruny. He was buried at the local cemetery and the town operates the Hasek Museum. Tomas Cihak, Vysocina Tourism regional organisation head, told CTK today that the memorial to Hasek will help attract both Czech and foreign tourists to the region. Cihak said people do not just visit historical monuments anymore but they want to hear some authentic story.
